

In opposition to the proposed rulemaking petition RM-10641:
This is a poorly-written proposal, fraught with the potential for abuse by law enforcement, and other authorities.
It is much more of a burden to the law-abiding public, than the occasional unlawful use of the radio spectrum.

As a small-business owner, it also puts an undue burden on me, due to the recordkeeping requirements. This will cause prices to rise, due to the paperwork involved, and place an economic penalty on businesses in an already slow economy.

As the petition mentions only retail sales, it does nothing to impose the recordkeeping requirements upon those casual transactions at hamfests and swapmeets.

Further, I believe that the bureaucratic infrastucture needed for this proposal, and the funding required for such, would be better spent in other areas.

Sincerely,

Ira J. Moser
